

Ike Unperturbed

President's Older Brother, Edgar, Criticizes Record Peacetime Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today turned aside criticism of his policies by his brother Edgar with this smiling comment:

"Edgar has been criticizing me since I was 5 years old."

That was all the President had to say on the subject of his brother.

The President, at his weekly news conference, seemed completely unperturbed by brother Edgar's criticism of the chief executive's record peacetime budget.

The President's remark about Edgar having criticized him since he was a child brought a roar of laughter from reporters. Eisenhower responded with a broad grin and a little chuckle of his own. No further questions were asked and the President made no further comment on the incident.

The elder Eisenhower attacked the budget as "too big" and said he "can't understand" why the President approved it. He said government spending is "ridiculously high."

"His campaign promises and speeches were for decreased government spending," Edgar told newsmen Tuesday night in his hotel suite. "I'd like to discover what influences are at work."

Never Discussed Budget
He said he has never discussed the budget with his younger brother, but he presumed the subject would come up tonight when he attends a stag dinner at the White House.

Edgar, second oldest of the seven Eisenhower brothers, held an impromptu news conference of his own shortly before midnight when he met newsmen sitting in the hall outside his Statler Hotel suite door.

The well-dressed Tacoma, Wash., lawyer and his wife Lucy hesitated a moment at the elevator door when they saw the newsmen.

Then "let's face the music," Mrs. Eisenhower said. She took her husband by the arm and they walked to their door.

In 'Low Spirits'

Edgar denied published reports that he said his brother Milton, presidential assistant Sherman Adams and Eisenhower supporter Paul Hoffman influenced the President toward more liberal spending policies.

"I am in pretty low spirits," Edgar said, referring to the reports. He said he and Adams "don't see eye to eye" all the time. And he indicated he felt the same way about Hoffman.

But he said he didn't know what persuaded "Dwight to go for that big budget this year," he said. "It is something everybody should be concerned about."

Edgar quickly added he doesn't "blame Dwight" for rising government spending.

"I feel he is somewhat helpless in controlling the budget," he said. "I don't think he has the power to reduce it—that's up to Congress."

Coal Production Down in March

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Illinois coal mines produced 3,881,441 tons of coal during March, according to a Department of Mines and Minerals report released today.

The total was 198,051 tons less than was mined in February and 207,673 tons less than a year ago. The report said the figures were based on production from 135 mines in 31 counties.

Another Mines and Minerals Department report showed two deaths in Illinois mines during March. One death was caused by a roof fall and the other came during surface hauling operations.

The reports said there were 75 injuries to miners during March, compared with 76 in February and 97 in January.

Recover Stolen Hubcaps

Sheriff Barrett Urges Citizens Cooperation to Halt Thefts

Sheriff William T. Barrett, declaring the sheriff's department has received numerous complaints the last few months from persons who have had hubcaps stolen from cars, today announced the recent recovery of 20 hubcaps including 12 taken from new cars loaded on a trailer transport which had been parked near Eldorado.

The other eight came from Harrisburg, he said, adding that "teenage boys were responsible for all the thefts. Six caps came from somewhere on Granger street and two from the lot south of Mac's Goodyear store, he stated.

"Anyone losing hubcaps around these areas should come to the sheriff's office to look over the eight stolen in Harrisburg," Barrett stated.

Urges Help of Citizens
The sheriff, in trying to stop these petty thefts, urged parents to find out where their children are going and what they are doing at night.

"If they have an unexpected source of income, this might bring investigation by the parents," he stated. "Citizens of the area can help officers by taking license numbers of suspicious cars, and if they see any crime being committed, they should try to get license numbers of cars to give officers a clue. "If a license number is not available, they should get as good a description of the cars and persons as possible."

He said that if a person is approached by someone trying to sell hubcaps, tires or other items, they should know with whom they are dealing.

Buying Stolen Goods a Felony
"Buying stolen merchandise is a felony and can be punished by law," he stated, "as well as being very embarrassing to the person doing the buying."

He urged persons contacted to get descriptions of the persons and the cars they are in.

"With such information, the police might know where to start looking," he stated. "The above also applies to areas where gasoline, stock, soybeans, corn, motors and junk are being stolen. The information will be of value to police officers and only with the help of each citizen can these things be cut to a minimum."

He also pointed to the possibility of some boy being shot in committing a theft.

"The sheriff's department, city police and state police are spread thin and cannot be everywhere at once," he said. "With your help many thieves can be caught."

At City Council

Accept Franklin Asphalt Bid for Street Oil, Chips Program

The Harrisburg city council yesterday accepted the bid of the Franklin Asphalt Co. of Benton for materials needed for the city's oil and chips program on non-arterial streets of the city.

The bid was opened two weeks ago. It calls for 40,000 gallons of road oil at 14.6 cents per gallon, 1,000 gallons of liquid asphalt at 18.19 cents per gallon, and 2,000 tons of three-eighths inch aggregate spread at $4.25 per ton, all delivered to the project.

The city started this program last summer with money taken from the city sales tax receipts and was well-received by the public.

The council also gave final passage to an ordinance amending the Lake Harrisburg ordinance which prohibited motorboats on the lake. Now persons can operate outboard motors up to five horsepower on Lake Harrisburg.

New Taxicab Ordinance
First reading was given a taxicab regulation ordinance, which was changed from an ordinance discussed several weeks ago.

The new ordinance provides that up to ten taxicab licenses can be issued at $40 each and contains regulatory provisions for cabs within the city. The ordinance sets up a commission composed of the mayor and council members which can revoke cab licenses for violations of provisions in the ordinance. It also sets up a schedule of rates for the city.

The council confirmed unanimously the appointment of Isham

Threet to the city police force by Commissioner Charles Hine. Threet's addition gives the city a seven-man force.

Orval Nelson, salesman who handled the sale of forty Duncan parking meters to the city for the city parking lot, replied to the assertion made two weeks ago by Police Chief Ross Lane that water was getting into the meter heads.

Nelson said the city evidently slipped on the installation, that specifications for erection should have been given to those making the installation.

Purchase Meters
"There's nothing to worry about," Nelson stated. "Everything can be taken care of easily."

Commissioner Hine said that he could buy six new Magee-Hale meters for $35 each, a saving of more than $21 on each meter.

Mayor Claud Gibbons opposed, saying he was told these meters could be obtained new for $22 each.

Upon roll call a motion by Hine to buy the half dozen passed, three to two, with Hine and Commissioners Don Williams and Sneed Jordan voting in favor and Mayor Gibbons and Commissioner Morris Darnell voting against.

Chief Lane said that the city needed fifty more meters to replace the old Series E Magee-Hale meters on the streets, which are ten years old, and Hine's motion that fifty new meters be bought on a sealed bid basis, with Series E meters to be used as trade-ins, passed unanimously.

Herrin Mayor Is Defeated by Former Official

Carmi Voters Reject City Manager Proposal

By United Press
Voters turned the president of the Southern Illinois Mayors Assn. out of office in one of a host of municipal elections that also featured several nip-and-tuck races and the election of a dead man.

One of the biggest upsets in Tuesday's second round of 1957 state elections was the defeat of Herrin Mayor Dave H. Miller, who was seeking a second term. Miller, head of the association, was ousted by former Mayor Fred Henderson by a vote of 1,835-1,433.

At Carmi, voters turned down a proposal to adopt the city manager form of government by a 3-1 margin, 2,120 to 689. Robert Randolph, head of the Good Government ticket, was elected mayor over Dr. George T. Proctor, a retired dentist.

At Mount Vernon, Virgil T. Bailey edged Joseph Dull for mayor by a margin of 38 of the 5,932 votes cast. The result was in doubt until the final unofficial returns were in early today. Observers said Dull, however, probably would seek a recount.

Two Dry Ballots
Residents in the Chicago suburb of Villa Park elected Leroy Hurd, who died about a week ago, as village clerk by a vote of 2,231-2,119 over his opponent, Mrs. Helen B. Reid. The village board said it would appoint a person to fill the clerk's office.

In a referendum vote, only two dry ballots were cast in the community of Muddy. The little Saline county town went wet by a margin of 56-2 in balloting to permit the opening of a package liquor store.

Henderson, winner at Herrin, previously served as mayor from 1937-45 and later became police chief, holding that post during part of Miller's administration. Miller was the only candidate to lose on his local ticket.

Charles Campbell, who has served for 30 years as Herrin's city clerk, was elected to his 11th term by a vote of 2,482-1,071 over Lezern Saylor, an alderman.

Easter Program At Kiwanis Club

An Easter address by the Rev. Glen Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church, was delivered at a meeting of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple. Rev. Daugherty, assisted by Jerry Holden, a ministerial student, showed colored slides of the Easter story as a feature of the program.

President Richard Davenport announced plans to charter a bus for the club members to attend a fellowship meeting at Murphysboro May 7.

HTHS Music Group Leaves for Four-Day Tour

More than 60 members of the Harrisburg Township high school music department and faculty members boarded special cars on the Illinois Central's "City of New Orleans" shortly after noon today to start a four-day Easter vacation trip through the southland.

Accompanying the junior and senior class members of the HTHS band were faculty members Marshall Cothran, James Beers, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Parkhurst, Alvina Shestak and Delores Lienesch.

The trip includes two full days in New Orleans and is financed by the various money making activities the band members have engaged in through the year, climaxing with a music revue a couple of weeks ago.

The HTHS party is travelling in two special railroad cars and the tours of New Orleans have been arranged by officials of the Illinois Central railroad.

The "City of New Orleans" departed from Carbondale at 12:48 p. m. today and is scheduled to arrive in New Orleans at 12:15 a. m. Thursday.

The group will have dinner on the train and go immediately to the De Soto hotel, headquarters during their stay in New Orleans, on arrival in the southern city early tomorrow morning.

The schedule: Thursday—8 a. m., breakfast; 9 a. m., Special All-Inclusive tour (3 1/2 hours). This tour is a fifty mile deluxe combination covering historic Chalmette river and Vieux Carre (French Quarter) and modern New Orleans, parks and gardens; 1 p. m., luncheon; 2:30 p. m., harbor boat trip. This is a wonderful 2 1/2-hour trip on the "Old Mississippi" and will afford views of the coffee docks, banana docks and the U. S. Naval station.

6 p. m., Dinner. There is nothing scheduled for the evening.

Friday—8:30 a. m., breakfast; 9:30 a. m., circle tour of Garden district. This is a 1 1/2-hour long trip covering the Huey P. Long Mississippi River Bridge, Lake Pontchartrain, New Orleans airport and scores of other attractions.

12:00 noon, luncheon. Balance of afternoon and evening free to visit Lake Pontchartrain amusement park.

Saturday—8:15 a. m., check out of hotel and transfer to depot. Depart from New Orleans at 7:15 a. m. and arrive in Carbondale at 6:22 p. m.

Selection of Jury Nearly Complete

There were strong indications that the jury to hear the trial of County Clerk Don B. Garrison, indicted on a charge of embezzlement of county funds, would be completed shortly after noon today.

At 11:45 a. m. eight jurors had been chosen definitely and apparently the final panel of four would be chosen soon afterwards.

Twenty-three prospective jurors were examined yesterday and an additional 16 were in court today to be used in selecting the 12-member jury.

The case is being heard by Circuit Judge Harold L. Zimmerman of Marion.

Stefko Loses Re-Election Bid As Mayor of Old Shawneetown

Paul Stefko, first mayor of Old Shawneetown who only last week was on trial in Gallatin county court on charges of resisting arrest and assisting a prisoner to escape, was defeated in his bid for re-election Tuesday.

Last week's trial resulted in a hung jury and a new trial date has not been set.

Stefko was elected mayor of Old Shawneetown when the historic Ohio river village was separated from New Shawneetown and became a separate municipality.

Charles L. Clayton was the winner in Tuesday's election for mayor or by a vote of 168 to 89.

In New Shawneetown Richard February was elected mayor, winning from A. W. Mayhall 442-150.

One of the closest races took place in McLeansboro where Harry W. Adams, candidate for mayor on the Peoples Party ticket, won over the Citizens Party candidate—Clayton Howell—789 to 720.

At Old Shawneetown Paul Stefko's troubles were compounded when he was defeated in his try for re-election by Charles L. Clayton by a vote of 168 to 89. It was reported that Stefko refused to swear in his successor, as provided by law, and then pulled another disappearing act.

Mrs. Winnie Chamberlain, unopposed, was re-elected city clerk and Harry Williams defeated Harry Suddoth for police magistrate, 124 to 95.

The six village trustees elected were Ben Skates, 157; Howard Hayes, 147; Joe Chamberlain, 146; Harry Clayton, 128; Roy Nolan, 124, and Warren Patton, 105.

At Shawneetown Richard February became mayor of Shawneetown by defeating A. W. Mayhall, 442 to 150. Fred Logsdon held on to his city clerk post by defeating Alvia Bean, 378 to 195, and Bill Drone was unopposed for city treasurer. John R. Wright was elected police magistrate 388 to 179.

In the First Ward Tom Scherrer defeated John R. Wright, 155 to 102, to become alderman. Fred Caldwell won the alderman race in the Second Ward by defeating Luke Seaton, 106 to 46, while Laverne Rutherford was elected alderman in the Third Ward over Gilbert Drone, 111 to 63.

At Junction Joe Barlow was elected mayor over two opponents, Toney Holbrook and Burnis Deal, with votes of 71, 31 and 3. William Hall defeated Mrs. Lillian Crosley, 68 to 36, in the city clerk race and C. C. Moore was unopposed for police magistrate.

Texas and the GOP

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Republican dreams of capturing a major political office in Texas are evidently still far from fulfillment. Ralph Yarborough's victory in the special U. S. Senate race left the Democrats in confident control of both Texas and the Senate.

Actually, Republican candidate Thad Hutcheson's position never was strong in the absolute sense. Some experts estimate GOP strength in Texas at no more than 14 per cent of the electorate. But his prospects were heightened by the fact that the Democratic vote stood to be divided among 18 candidates.

In the end, this was not enough. What happened was that Hutcheson split the major conservative vote with Rep. Martin Dies, who ran second, and Yarborough romped home with the aid of a concentrated liberal vote.

The result was of course a setback for the GOP nationally as well as in Texas. A Hutcheson triumph would have put the Senate even at 48-48, giving Vice President Nixon a chance to cast a deciding vote. The conservative Democrats, particularly the pro-Eisenhower forces led by former Gov. Allan Shivers, also suffered.

Less clear is the effect on the status of Texas moderates. Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson. They will be grateful for the rebuff to Shivers, but they had combined with the conservatives three times to beat Yarborough in gubernatorial elections.

Once more the Republican party has seen demonstrated that President Eisenhower is a case apart. Twice he has swept Texas in presidential balloting, but obviously his victory margin has been made more by Democrats than Republicans.

Nevertheless, the GOP has no cause for total discouragement in the South. The party holds more seats in Congress, scattered thru several southern states, than it has in many decades. Its percentages of the vote have in many cases increased markedly even as defeats continued.

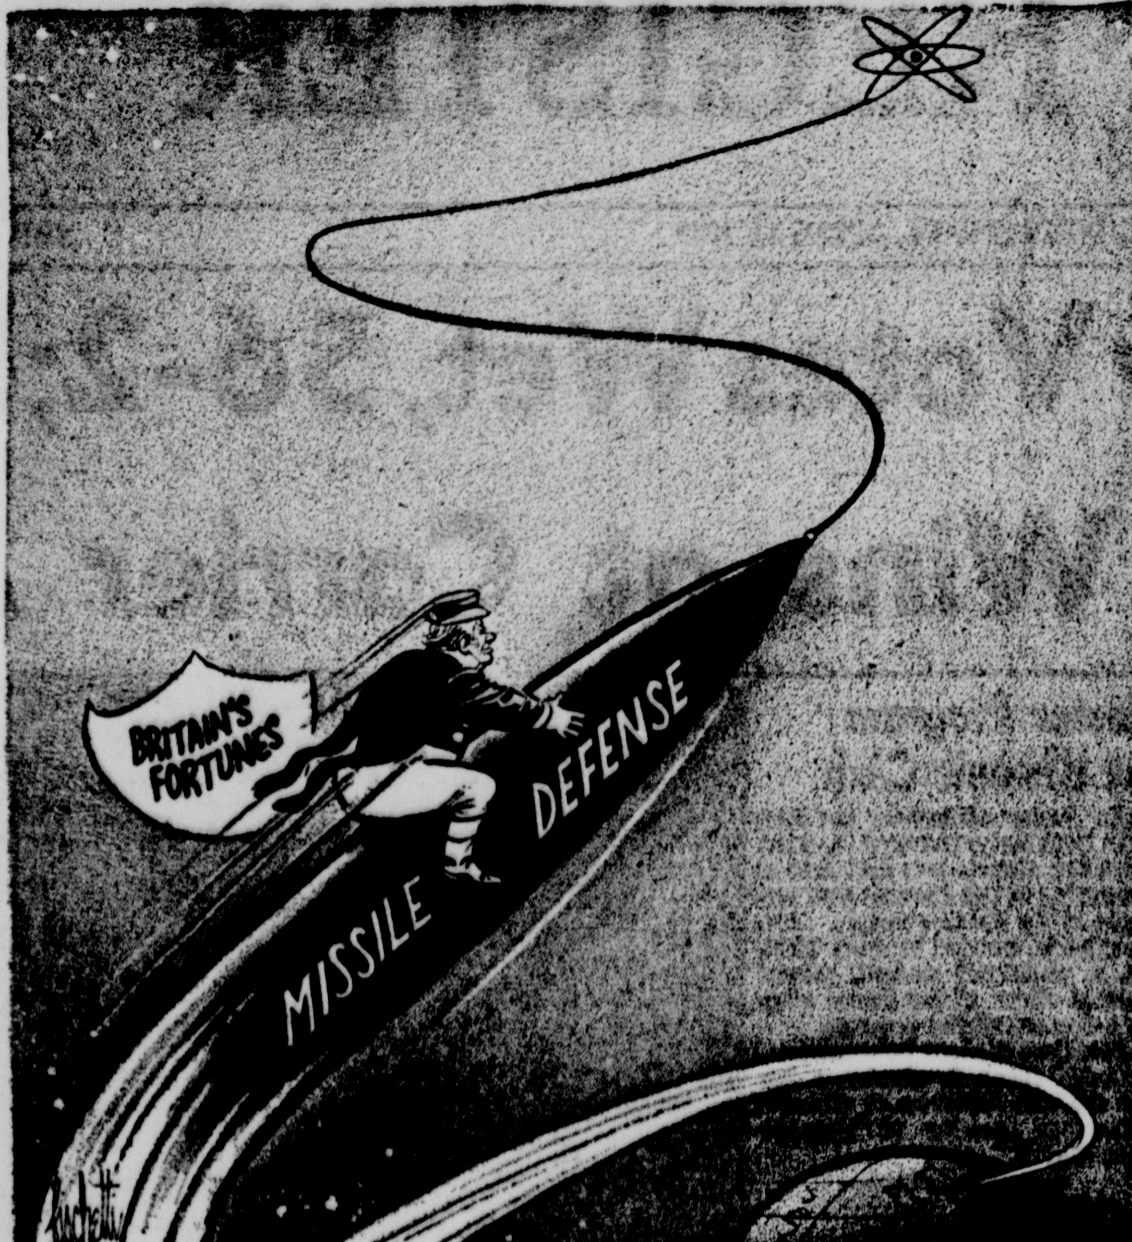

Hutcheson's third-place showing was moderately good, though a long way from enough to win. It is steadily becoming less painful for many southerners to vote Republican. The evidence suggests that time may be inching the South toward real two-party government.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Committee Which Leaked Canadian Information Is Law Unto Itself; Republicans Still Hold Positions Under Democratic Chairman; Few Senators Want To Antagonize Mississippi's Eastland.

WASHINGTON. — Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri has drafted a resolution of senatorial apology to Canada for making public the secret security data which brought about the suicide of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt.

Such an apology was what the Canadian government has wanted, since it regards the Senate, not the State Department, as responsible for breaking confidence. However, there's little likelihood that the Senate would pass such a resolution unless drastically watered down.

About 90 of the 96 senators might favor such an apology privately, but publicly few are likely to back it—for an interesting and significant reason. The reason goes to the heart of why the Senate Internal Security subcommittee has been allowed to operate almost at will.

Chairman of the Internal Security subcommittee is Jim Eastland of Mississippi, Democrat. Eastland is also chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee and, as such, influences private bills.

These are the bills for pensions, immigration permits, citizenship, damages, etc., which every Senator must squeeze through Congress in order to get re-elected. They constitute the great bulk of every session's legislation. And since Jim Eastland sits as czar over the Judiciary committee, he can block them or speed them.

So only a few senators want to antagonize Jim Eastland by pushing an apology to Canada which would reflect on him.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

That's also why few want to interfere with the way Eastland runs the Internal Security subcommittee. Though Eastland is a Democrat, the committee is run by Republicans. Eastland himself is consulted by the Eisenhower administration on job appointments in Mississippi. He has more power with Republicans than most Democrats, undoubtedly more power than he ever had with a Democratic administration.

Working with him as virtual co-chairman of Internal Security is Sen. Bill Jenner of Indiana, Republican. They have appointed as counsel not a Democrat, but a New York Republican, Robert Morris, the man who published the security data on Ambassador Norman.

Morris is given complete freedom to do almost anything he pleases. He has even had government stenographers type Republican speeches on government time to be delivered at Lincoln Day dinners blasting Democrats under whom he serves. His associate counsel is William Rusher, another arch-Republican, and the clerical staff includes Roy Garcia and Eleanor Melaney, also Republicans. This is unusual. When the Democrats control Congress they usually insist that personnel be Democrat.

Other senators have tried to curtail the Internal Security subcommittee without success. Early this year, the Rules committee voted to cut its funds. Eastland and Republican friends quickly overrode this on the Senate floor, and the full amount, $289,261.45, was voted, with an additional proviso that a minority (Republican) counsel be added. This meant that an additional Republican, Rusher, was added, since Morris, a Republican, is appointed by Democratic Chairman Eastland.

The Democrats do have one staff lawyer on the subcommittee, Julian Sourwine, who resigned last year to run for the Senate in Nevada. After being swamped by Sen. Alan Bible, Sourwine came back to Washington looking for a meal ticket and was welcomed to the bosom of the committee.

Sourwine is the man who started a probe of the New York Times in the fall of 1955 when most members of the Internal Security subcommittee were out of town. It served as a build-up to run for the Senate later.

Both Morris and Sourwine know that they can always get 100 per cent support from a majority of the senators on their committee through the Republican team of Jenner and Eastland. Supporting them are Butler (Md.), Hruska (Neb.), Republicans; and usually McClellan (Ark.) and Ervin (N.C.), Democrats. Watkins of Utah, Republican, and Neely of West Virginia, Democrat, have opposed them, but are overridden.

UNDER THE DOME

Clyde Ellis, the national REA lobbyist, has written me that I'm all wet about working out a deal with Lyndon Johnson last year to support Gov. Price Daniel of Texas against Ralph Yarborough, now the senator-elect from Texas. Glad to have his statement, though it's not what Ellis' staff told Texans at the time of the Price-Yarborough race. . . . Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.) churns up such nervous energy that he can't sleep nights. He has talked seriously of giving up the leadership to relieve the tension. His doctors, who have seen him through one heart attack, have ordered him to "take it easy." . . . Liberal Democrats, once a power in the Senate, no longer work together as a block. Their chairman, skitterish Sen. Lister Hill (D., Ala.), hasn't even called them together since the Senate convened. . . . Bushy-browed Sen. Wayne Morse (D., Ore.), weary of crying out alone in the legislative wilderness, is trying to reactivate the liberals. His first backstage move is to replace Hill with trigger-tongued Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.). . . . Lyndon Johnson, who charmed Humphrey last year into curbing his liberal impulses, is now working on Sen. Dick Neuberger (D., Ore.). . . . Bashful, boyish Sen. Jack Kennedy (D., Mass.) has lined up Sen. George Smathers (D., Fla.) to help sell him to the South in 1960. Behind the scenes, Lyndon Johnson will also help get Kennedy a spot on the 1960 Democratic ticket. . . . Thriftiest man in the Senate is gnarled, elder statesman Matt Neely (D., W. Va.), whose Dis-

counsel be added. This meant that an additional Republican, Rusher, was added, since Morris, a Republican, is appointed by Democratic Chairman Eastland.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Many people bore false witness against Jesus at His trial but their testimony was inconsistent. In a civil court this perjury might have been recognized, but when Jesus was tried the judges had made up their minds before the trial started.

False witness and lying were acceptable to those who judged with prejudice. Jesus made no comment to the false accusations because He knew that His fate had already been decided. One could almost conclude that prejudice was one of the major sins of Jesus' accusers.

Prejudice remains a sin which plagues mankind. It negates fair play. It grows out of dishonesty. It defeats love, and it condemns the guiltless. We cannot find salvation if we succumb to the error of prejudice which denies the love of God.

Tom Alder took a thin cigar from his shirt pocket and sticking it in his mouth, put a match to it. He drew deeply on the smoke and looked at his hands. He held them out, the fingers spread apart. They were steady.

Morgan was coming across the street, was less than 30 yards away now. Alder called, "Have you got a gun, Morgan?"

Morgan came to a full halt. "Yes," he said. "I've got a gun."

"Use it, then!"

Morgan wore a coat that was open. His gun was thrust behind the waistband of his trousers. He said tonelessly, "I'm going to kill you, Alder. You may get me, but you'll die yourself."

"If that's the way of it, that's the way of it," said Alder.

Across the street, Joe Jagger had been unable to bear the suspense and had opened the bank door and stood in the open doorway. Morgan did not see him and Alder himself was only vaguely aware of Jagger.

Morgan reached for his gun. His hand gripped the butt firmly, whipped the gun out and up as smoothly and swiftly as he could, his thumb pressing back the hammer even as he drew.

An invisible bolt smashed Morgan's right forearm. He looked down in astonishment at his gun, which suddenly lay at his feet. Was that the best Alder could do?

Morgan started to stoop to pick up the gun with his left hand, to put one bullet into Tom Alder before the former guerrilla could give him the coup de grace.

A scream split the air even as Morgan started to bend over. It came from behind Morgan.

Cass Simcoe, who had been in the doorway of the St. Louis Store, when Alder's gun had spoken, was running forward now. "No, no!" she cried.

But Morgan was committed. He had reached for the gun in the street and he had to go through with it. Instinct told him what to do. Stoop, lunge for the gun, throw yourself to the ground, roll away and come up...

He did all those things. He heard a roar and thunder, as his fingers closed on the revolver. Momentarily, he expected the stunning blow of the bullet and he expected every ounce of his will to continuing the roll... and pulling the trigger.

And Alder was down! Morgan got to his knees, started to push himself up. A man came flying from the direction of the bank. Joe Jagger.

A gun in his hand lanced fire and thunder at Morgan and a bullet kicked up dust, inches from Morgan's foot. A second bullet whizzed by his ear.

Joe Jagger could not hit the proverbial barn door.

At that instant, Cass Simcoe leaped in front of Morgan, her arms thrown wide, as if to protect him.

"Don't!"

Joe Jagger's third and final bullet was his best shot. It would have struck Morgan... except that Cass was now in front of him. Morgan heard the bullet thud into her body, heard her cry out and saw her fall. Morgan dropped his gun, lunged for her, but missed her. Cass fell to the street on her face.

Alder, down on the ground, fired one last shot. There was just enough life left in him for it. The bullet went to Joe Jagger. Jagger was dead before he hit the ground. It was Jagger who had put that last bullet into Jim Alder's head; Tom Alder knew that as he died.

Morgan gently turned Cass Simcoe over. The left side of her shirt was stained with blood.

"What'd you have to kill him for?" she wailed. "Tom Alder liked you."

"I liked him," said Morgan, "but he was trying to kill me."

Chad Morgan was in the field that lay beside the road running along the river. It was June and he was stacking up the sheaves of wheat into shocks.

His eyes went to the road and he was glad when he saw a horseman galloping toward him.

And then Morgan saw that the rider was a girl, a girl wearing man's shirt, Levi's, cowboy boots.

It was Cass Simcoe.

"Reb!"

"I rode all the way from Emporia since sunup. Dad and the boys brought—a herd up The Trail and I thought while they were dickering to sell, I'd take a run over here. I had some business."

"Of course," said Morgan.

She made a sweeping gesture toward the wheat. "That—there's the stuff you sodbusters raise?"

"That's wheat," Morgan said quietly.

"I wouldn't be a farmer for all the longhorns in Texas. Well, I gotta go now. I only stopped by here to tell you that I'm getting married soon."

"Cass," Morgan said, "you're telling a whopper."

"All right, what if I am? Maybe you've already married—Miss Jagger."

Morgan shook his head. "Helen Jagger went away last fall. She sold the hotel. I had a letter from her a couple of months ago. She was on her way to Europe."

"Europe?" sniffed Cass. "Why'd anyone want to go to Europe?"

"Why does anyone want to live

Expect First A-Power Combat Plane by '63-'64

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force now expects to have its first nuclear-powered combat plane flying by 1963 or 1964, it was learned today.

After a series of stops, starts, in Texas when they can live in Kansas?"

Morgan, grinning, suddenly stepped toward her horse. She grabbed up the reins, started to whirl the horse away and it did turn, but Morgan's arms shot out and swept her from the saddle.

He held her in a tight embrace and their lips met.

Cass pulled her head away. "Do I have to be a Yank?" she wailed.

(THE END)

stretch-outs and besetting technical problems, the Air Force has put the program on a firm schedule which is reported to please the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee.

In the face of congressional criticism of the nuclear-power-for-aircraft project, Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles has been describing the new development schedule in a series of appearances before congressional committees. His testimony has not yet been made public.

Ancient Ritual of Seder Is Observed In Jewish Home Ceremonies

PESACH—PASSOVER. FESTIVAL OF FREEDOM

All over the world in the homes of an ancient people, the families sat down last night at their tables to observe a ritual of commemoration of the liberation of the enslaved Israelites from the Egyptian Pharaoh. This is the ceremony of Seder, the high spot of the Jewish religious home ceremonies.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elden Gossage at 25 West Logan street, the children, Howard, David and Faith, again participated in this ceremony. Howard, 14, put on his Kittl (white shroud), like his fathers, and chanted the Kiddush, which begins the service which lasts for many hours.

David, 12, who is this year taking his training for Bar Mitzvah at the temple in Benton under Rabbi Joseph Goldman, wore his Yarmulke (little cap) and his voice was heard in the singing of the Hallel, taken from the Psalms, and the chanting of grace at the close of the meal.

Father Relates Story

Faith, as the youngest child and so the youngest person present, asked the "Four Questions": "Why, on this night, do we eat only unleavened bread?" "Why do we eat Maror?" "Why do we eat Charoseth?" and "Why do we observe the ceremony of Seder?"

It is then that the father of the family, as leader, related the story, familiar to all of the world, of enslaved Israel in Egypt and of the Exodus, as told in Exodus, 12th chapter, under the leadership of Moses, that he might bring his people to the acceptance of the teachings of the one God.

Pesach means passover and refers to the account in Exodus 12, of the passing over of the houses of the Israelites, marked with lamb's blood on the doorposts, by the Angel of death, and the sparing of the life of the first born son.

For the Seder the dining room is illuminated by the mother with festive lights, lamps or candles, and the best linen and silver are used. A cushion is placed at the left of each seat, a symbol of freedom. Three cakes of Matzah are covered with a cloth embroidered or printed with benedictions. Pesach (wine of grapes or raisins) is served at each place in a tumbler of silver or glass. A large silver dish holds a roasted lamb bone, commemorative of the Paschal lamb; a roasted egg, a substitute for the ancient sacrifice and a root of horseradish, Maror (bitter herb), symbol of bitterness endured in Egypt; Karpas, a sprig of parsley or watercress; and Charoseth, a compound of apples, raisins and almonds mixed with cinnamon and wine and resembling clay, a reminder of the bricks that were made for Pharaoh. There is a special cup of wine, for the Prophet Elijah, who visits every Seder, according to Jewish legend, and who will bring the tidings of the Messianic age.

Survives Through History

Each person present has a copy of the Haggadah, the passover home service. The Seder has survived in the Jewish home through all of the exigencies of history. It persists as an emblem and promise of freedom.

In this year when the pre-Easter week and the Pesach fall in the same calendar week, what a glorious fulfillment of freedom is exemplified, as families go about side by side preparing for these most sacred of ceremonies, in complete harmony.

Hodge Denies Others Shared In Looted Funds

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — Imprisoned former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge has denied that others shared the loot in his $2,599,604 raid on the state treasury.

Hodge was questioned by Peter McGuire, chief investigator for the Illinois attorney general, and Robert A. Sprecher, a special assistant, Tuesday at Menard State Prison where he is serving a 12-15-year sentence for check fraud.

"I've told everything I know," Hodge told the two investigators.

McGuire said the ex-auditor appeared angry over newspaper stories that quoted him as saying others shared in the embezzled state funds. Hodge said he had been misquoted, McGuire reported.

Hodge also denied any connection with Leon Marcus, the Chicago banker who was kidnapped and killed March 31. Hodge had cashed more than one million dollars worth of bad checks at the Southmoor Bank which Marcus formerly controlled.

"I never knew him in my life until I was instrumental in having him removed as chairman of the bank," Hodge told the investigators.

They quoted him as saying that newspapers "have tied me up as being a friend of Marcus." In reality we were enemies."

Sprecher said that Hodge also claimed to know nothing of how $53,000 found its way into a safety deposit box kept by William Lydon, a Chicago policeman who doubled as an interior decorator and did some high-priced decorating for Hodge.

Sprecher said Hodge told him he couldn't remember where he had met Lydon.

Eisenhower Defends Action Of Summerfield in Cutting Mail Service Last Week End

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today strongly defended Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield's action curtailing mail service last weekend.

Eisenhower said Summerfield had to do it because Congress had not provided the post office with enough money.

Eisenhower late Tuesday signed a bill giving the post office an additional 41 million dollars. Summerfield announced that most services would be restored as rapidly as possible.

The President was asked at his news conference today what he thought of the feeling in some sections of Congress that the weekend slow down of mail service was an effort by Summerfield to coerce Congress. Eisenhower disagreed and said Summerfield acted with his complete approval.

In McLeansboro the Peoples Party took all but two races with all contests being fairly close. At Golconda

Only two posts were contested in Golconda and winners were Mrs. Varney Hoffman, defeating Charles E. Moore Jr. for city clerk, 322 to 141, and Bandy Warren winning over Sam Rumsey Jr. for Third Ward alderman post 133 to 48.

Others elected without opposition were Woodrow Patton, mayor; Monroe Marquardt, police magistrate; A. E. Halter, First Ward alderman, and John J. Warren, Second Ward alderman.

Mayor A. W. Moore, retiring after 12 years in office and not a candidate, received 100 write-in votes.

Wayne City Woman is Killed

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Enid Wood, 43, Wayne City, was killed Tuesday night when her car skidded on a rain-slicked road near here and rammed into another car.

The victim was following an Illinois state police car travelling about 40 miles per hour when the wreck occurred. The police officers, returning from a police school, said Mrs. Wood suddenly lost control of her car and skidded sideways into the path of an oncoming auto.

Injured in the wreck were Bernie Greenwalt, 17, driver of the second car, and Donna Milinex, 17, a passenger with Greenwalt. Neither was believed seriously hurt.

Boy Whiz Runs TV Quiz Winnings To $192,000

NEW YORK — Robert Strom, 10-year-old science whiz, set another all-time TV quiz show record Tuesday night when he ran his winnings to $192,000.

The fifth grade student breezed through a three-part series of questions on various aspects of science on the CBS-TV show "The $64,000 Question." He gets a chance next week to pursue his chase of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

"It's up to the boss whether I can go on," said Rob with some detachment after the show. "Who's the boss? The boss is Mom."

The boss, Mrs. Beatrice Strom of the Bronx, N. Y., shrugged. "Rob is bearing up fine. Me... well, the show isn't so bad. It's what goes on in between shows. Reporters at the door, reporters at the phone."

"Why, the girls are even mailing in cheesecake shots to Rob from all over the country!"

Young Strom, natty in a striped jacket, waltzed through a three-part question on his 10th appearance on the giveaway. It marked the third time he has reached the $64,000 level. Next week, if he chooses, he can gun for another $32,000. If he makes that, he can try for his fourth and final $64,000 on April 30. That would give him $256,000 in all.

Whatever happens, Rob is assured of the $192,000 he has won thus far—or what will be left after it's spread over a three-year period. That three-year spread would leave him with some $83,000 after taxes.

U. S. Would Aid Jordan: Ike

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said today the United States could go to Jordan's assistance if it becomes a victim of aggression.

The President also told his news conference the United States may have to go before the United Nations Security Council to report on the stalled Suez Canal negotiations. But he added that this government has not given up hope that an agreement with Egypt can be reached.

Eisenhower said the United States has two ways of helping Jordan if it is attacked.

First, he said, a Big Three agreement of May, 1950, provides for action in event any Middle East nation is the victim of aggression and this could apply in an Israeli-Arab dispute.

Second, the Middle East doctrine resolution approved by Congress, he said, permits the United States to go to the aid of any nation attacked by Communist aggression.

The United States, he said, would be guided by either of these two pronouncements. The President however, did not voice any concern that aggression is imminent.

Run Out of Ballots At Flat Rock

FLAT ROCK, Ill. (AP) — The ballots ran out in Tuesday's elections. An unexpected write-in campaign exhausted 100 ballots printed. Some voters had to wait until 13 more ballots were printed.

The write-in campaign failed, however, as village president H. L. Seany and his slate were re-elected.

A total of 113 votes were cast.

BIRDS, Ill. (AP) — It's getting wetter here.

Four years ago, this small community in Lawrence County voted wet by only 3 votes.

Tuesday, the same issue was again approved by a 32 vote margin.

ST. FRANCISVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A former school teacher is the new police magistrate here.

Mrs. Sylvia Grant won election Tuesday with 11 votes in a write-in campaign. There was no opposition.

Five Killed in Plant Explosion

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — An explosion at a Monsanto Chemical Co. plant near here leveled a three-story building Tuesday killing five workmen, injuring four others and unleashing chlorine fumes which forced 1,500 persons to leave their homes.

The blast, of undetermined origin, "blew apart" the building, one of several single-unit structures known as "shells," at the sprawling Monsanto installation at Nitro, W. Va., 15 miles from here. The building was reduced to rubble.

RANTOUL, Ill. (AP) — A retired Air Force general and former commander of nearby Chanute Air Force Base swept his entire Citizens Party slate into office Tuesday.

Maj. Gen. Byron E. Gates, who became a private citizen here when he retired in 1955, won election as president of the village board with a total of 1,180 votes over incumbent C. W. Parker who received 610 votes.

A third candidate, Joe H. Kerr, a civilian employee at the air base, chalked up 572 votes.

Musial with Four Hits Paces Cards To 13-4 Victory Over Cincinnati

Spahn Hurls 4-Hit, 4-1 Braves' Win Over Chicago Cubs

By United Press
Stan Musial and Warren Spahn—two baseball gaffers—acted like old fire horses when they heard the bell sound for the opening of the 1957 campaign.

Musial, now 36 years old and in his 17th season with the St. Louis Cardinals, collected four hits in four official at-bats in pacing the Redbirds to a 13-4 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Spahn, who celebrates his 36th birthday Saturday and pitched his first major league game with the old Boston Braves back in 1942, got Milwaukee off flying by hurling a four-hit, 4-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

A crowd of 32,554 at Cincinnati watched the Redlegs absorb their worst opening day defeat in 46 years. And Musial emerged as the biggest culprit, whacking out two singles and two doubles as the Cardinals bombarded four Cincinnati pitchers for 17 hits. Herm Wehmeier went the route for St. Louis, scattering eight safeties. Rush Bears Brunt.

Spahn struck out five and issued only one walk in picking up right where he left off last year, when he was the Braves' leading pitcher with 20 victories. However, he wasn't the whole show at Chicago. The Braves scored all their runs off Bob Rush in the sixth inning, with Johnny Logan's homer and Ed Mathews' triple the key blows.

In other National League openers, Gino Cimoli's 12th inning homer gave the Dodgers a 7-6 victory over the Phillies and the Pirates trounced the Giants, 9-2. The Yankees opened defense of their American League pennant by edging the Senators, 2-1, while the Red Sox turned back the Orioles, 4-2, the Athletics downed the Tigers, 3-1, and the White Sox clipped the Indians, 3-2, on an 11th inning single by Larry Doby.

Robin Roberts, who set a major league record last year by serving up 46 home run balls, opened the new season with three "gopher" pitches. In addition to Cimoli's winning blast, Roberts disappointed a record Phillies' opening turn-out of 37,667 by giving up homers to Don Zimmer and Gil Hodges.

After Hodges' clout tied the score at 6-6 in the eighth, Clem Labine took over for Don Newcombe, who gave up nine hits and all the Phils' runs and Clem allowed only two safeties the rest of the way.

Chryslers Lead Mobilgas Run

WINNEMUCCA, Nev. 12—Chrysler products and Mel Alsbury Jr., last year's winner, led the pack today in the third leg of the Mobilgas economy run as the race began to tell on the ladies in the unofficial competition to determine whether men or women are the better drivers.

The No. 3 automobile manufacturer of the "Big Three" of the American motor car industry held first place in every one of the four categories—low price, low-medium, upper-medium and high price—and had latched onto the one-two-three spots in the sweepstakes division at the halfway point of the 1,568 mile road test from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, Idaho.

Alsbury appeared a cinch to repeat in the 1957 version of the Crown Imperial he drove last year to victory in the grueling test of American motor car gasoline economy and performance.

Tough in Clutch

The Pirates scored six runs—five of them unearned—in the eighth inning while routing the Giants before 33,405 fans—the largest opening day crowd at Forbes Field in nine years. Bob Friend gave up 10 hits, but was tough in the clutch as New York stranded 11 men. A crowd of 38,227—the largest opening day turn-out—watched the Red Sox down the Orioles at Baltimore. Tom Brewer, who beat the Orioles four times last season, received credit for the victory although he needed relief from Ike Delock in the eighth inning.

A ninth-inning single by Andy Carey with the bases loaded carried the Yankees to their opening victory and broke up a tight pitching duel between Whitey Ford and Chuck Stobbs. Ford allowed only six hits while the Yanks nicked Stobbs for seven, including a seventh-inning homer by Yogi Berra.

Tom Morgan, a Yankee castoff, pitched four-hit ball for the A's against the Tigers. Gus Zernial homered off Frank Lary in the sixth and the A's tallied their decisive run in the seventh on a single by Jim Pisoni, a sacrifice by Morgan and another single by Joe Demaestri.

Doby's key blow for the White Sox broke up another good pitching duel between Billy Pierce and the Indians' Herb Score. Luis Aparicio opened the 11th with a single, moved up on Nellie Fox's sacrifice, and scored on Doby's single to center. Score struck out 10 men and gave up only seven hits, but issued 11 passes. Pierce whiffed nine and allowed eight hits.

Creek Fishing Supports Study On Loss of Lake Fish by Flooding

By Pete Brown

(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation).

Fishing in southern Illinois during the past week has been generally slow, most areas still not having recovered from recent rains, high winds and skidding temperatures.

There was one notable exception, however, and it tends to support previous published research by management experts at Southern Illinois University.

Connecting Crab Orchard and Little Grassy lakes is a stream known as Little Grassy Creek. Sunday afternoon, April 14, the banks of this creek, a short distance below the Little Grassy Lake spillway, were crowded with worm and minnow fishermen. In 74 and one-half man hours of angling, according to a spot census, 24 people took out 217 bluegill, 102 crappie, 15 white perch, nine bullhead, a couple of carp and—believe it or not—seven largemouth bass.

Using wire screen netting which strained between 41 percent and 33 percent of the water, SIU researchers last year conducted an exhaustive study of fish escape-ment over the spillways of Little Grassy and Murphysboro lakes during seasonal overflows.

The study proved conclusively that a considerable loss of adult fish occurs during periods of flooding.

The excellent fishing success in the Little Grassy Creek pools last weekend is undoubtedly due in large measure to spillway escapement, although some of the fish may have come upstream from Crab Orchard.

Fishing on Lake Spotty

An increased catch of bass and bluegill in the nets of commercial fishermen on the Big Muddy river lends further weight to the argument. These fish show up most heavily during March and April, the usual period of escapement loss in southern Illinois.

With cold and murky conditions prevailing fishing on Little Grassy Lake itself was spotty. A few hardy spring perennials scored, however, including Charles Polenski, of Dowell, with two six and one-half pounders and one seven pounder caught on large shiners; Bob Alland, Belleville, with two totalling 14 pounds; Bill Lipe, Belleville, with a three and one-half and four and one-half pound pair, and Eddie Reed, Carmi, with three, the largest going six and one-half pounds.

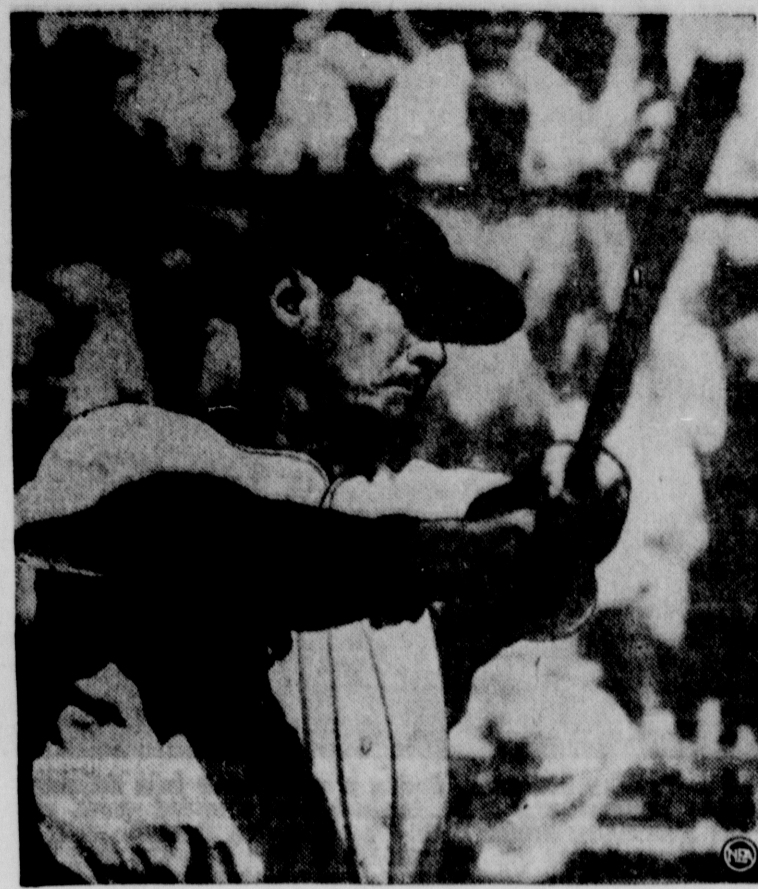

Lake Murphysboro is still high and muddy, and outside of a few isolated channel cat small bass and crappie catches, little activity has been recorded.

Crappie fishing at Horseshoe Lake was going well before the weather breakdown, but had slowed considerably by last weekend. Dock operator George Walker reported only a scattering of bluegill and crappie being brought ashore.

Boat fishermen at Crab Orchard had some success with crappie Sunday although the catch to man-hour ratio was not altogether encouraging.

Cubs Get Littlefield, Lennon in Trade for Jablonski and Katt

CHICAGO 15—The Chicago Cubs had southpaw hurler Dick Littlefield and outfielder Bob Lennon in the fold today and the New York Giants had ex-Cubs Ray Katt and Ray Jablonski. Everybody seemed happy about the swap.

"Katt and Jablonski were expendable so far as we were concerned," Cub manager Bob Schefling explained. Giant manager Bill Rigney said he, too, was satisfied with the trade.

"We are getting experience behind the plate in Katt and a good right-handed pinch hitter," Rigney said.

Ex-Servicemen, Women Entitled to Burial in National Cemeteries

Willard A. Manning, Administrator of the Illinois Veterans' Commission, today stated that many ex-servicemen and women are unaware of their eligibility for burial in National cemeteries. Mr. Manning advises that any member of the United States Armed Forces dying in active duty or any former member whose last service was terminated honorably and Public Health Commissioned officers who served during World War I are eligible for such burial. Wives and husbands of eligible service members are also entitled to such burial as are minor children and certain dependent adult children.

No advanced reservations are required. The funeral director or person responsible for the funeral arrangements merely communicates with the superintendent of the National cemetery in which interment is desired. There is no charge for the grave site or the opening or closing of the grave. The government will also erect a headstone without charge.

Mr. Manning suggests that any person interested may receive full information at any IVC office.

In Saline county, veterans should contact the Illinois Veterans' Commission Service Officer at 15 1-2 North Main Street in Harrisburg.

European Tour on Program

Expect Record Number of Students For SIU's Summer Session

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Farmers, nurses, editors, cooks, singers, homemakers, beauticians and bankers all will have a part in Southern Illinois University's 1957 summer program.

Director Raymond H. Dey expects a record number of students of all ages to enroll for the highly diversified summer session, which opens June 17 for eight busy weeks. Registrations will be accepted through June 1 and on June 13-14.

Most spectacular offering is a $1,385 "package deal" tour of nine European countries. Persons making the nine-week trip may earn 12 quarter hours of geography credit.

While anthropology majors are excavating rock shelters in the Cache River Valley of Southern Illinois, recreation students will be counselling children at the SIU Camp on Little Grassy Lake. Eleven departments will offer summer courses at the camp, reflecting Southern's emphasis on outdoor education, Dey said.

For farmers and agriculture majors, a soil conservation workshop will be conducted. The Department of Agriculture also will offer a workshop in landscape gardening. Both begin Aug. 12.

"Legal Aspects of Nursing," a work-conference for graduate nurses, is scheduled for June 24-28. On July 14, the annual five-day National Conference for Weekly Newspaper Editors will open.

The Home Economics Department will offer college credit to cooks in a School Lunch Program short course, June 24-29. Another home economics short course is Flower Arrangement for the Home, beginning June 17.

A Summer Opera Workshop will be climaxed by the presentation of "Carousel," famed Broadway musical, the week of July 22. The show will be staged at Cairo the following week.

For beauticians, a third annual School of Cosmetology will be conducted July 22-Aug. 3. Special features will be a hair-style show and graduation of the school's first class.

Other summer events will include an annual Bankers' School, Sept. 2-14; Church Music Workshop, June 25-28; a College of Edu-

Annual Open House Sunday Afternoon at Anna State Hospital

The Anna State hospital will hold its annual open house Sunday, April 28, from 1:30 p. m. to 4:00 p. m., according to an announcement today from R. C. Steck, M. D., superintendent.

Plans are underway now to make this the biggest and best open house — hopefully exceeding last year's record crowd of 3483 persons, which was the largest in Illinois mental hospital history.

"We at Anna feel that the citizens in the area are genuinely interested in the increasing seriousness of mental illness and we plan to make this year's open house both educational and enlightening. There will be tours of the wards, dietary areas, occupational and cation Conference, July 9-10; and a Restaurant Managers' Short Course July 15-17.

Workshops and short courses also will be offered by the department of health education, speech, guidance, foreign languages, and education.

Although they will take no courses, even harness racing enthusiasts will be on the campus this summer, Dey added.

The University has offered housing at its new Thompson Point Residence Halls for out-of-state persons who attend the Hamiltonian race Aug. 27 at the Du Quoin State Fair.

recreational therapy workshops, displays and patient demonstrations," Dr. Steck said.

Next to falls and machinery, animals rank third among the causes of accidental injuries to farm people.

"I Know Why STALEY Can guarantee 100% livability"

Says Mrs. Ernest Olson, RR#1, Roland, Iowa

"I Didn't Lose One Staley-Fed Chick Out of 500!"

"We started our chicks from the very first day on Staley CHICK ATOMS, under the Staley Guarantee. That guarantee said if we feed Staley CHICK ATOMS and GROWER ATOMS exclusively, according to directions, they would refund the hatchery price of every chick lost from disease or nutritional deficiency. How could we lose? We used the Staley CHICK ATOMS for 7 weeks as directed. At the end of 7 weeks, we hadn't lost a bird."

"From the 8th to the 14th week, we put those pullets on Staley GROWER ATOMS. The deal was, if we had any losses at the end of 14 weeks, we could put in a claim at our Staley dealer's and get paid the full hatchery price for our losses. However, when we finished the 14th week, we had nothing to claim—still hadn't lost a bird! So—

"Now we tried for Staley's 'Double Guarantee' offer. We'd have done it anyhow, for here's what it said: 'If instead of presenting your claim at the end of 14 weeks, you will switch your chicks from the GROWER ATOMS to Staley PULLET ATOMS to the end of 21 weeks, we will pay you double the hatchery price for any losses under the terms of their written guarantee.' But we still didn't collect a cent—for we still didn't lose a pullet!"

"We were sure glad we didn't collect—we wanted a good, high-laying flock more than any refund, you bet! But this kind of livability sure sold us on Staley. You can be sure of this: Our new flock's going on those guaranteed Staley CHICK ATOMS this year, too! Of course, nobody can be sure of not losing a bird like we did—we may not do it ourselves this next year!—but that's why that guarantee is so important! Even if we do lose some chicks, we'll get their cost back."

We're Adding One Thing: We're Starting with

10 Days On Staley chick spicer atoms

Mrs. Olson continues:

"We're doing only one thing different in 1957. For 10 days before putting our new chicks on Staley CHICK ATOMS, we're giving them a 'pre-start' on Staley CHICK SPICER ATOMS that's fortified with medicinal amounts of antibiotics and growth factors."

"We've had a fine report from Staley on the results of CHICK SPICER with over half a million chicks. The records showed those chicks got a real super-start. We may not have such good luck ourselves, but it's certainly worthwhile to try! After all, the CHICK SPICER costs only a penny a bird extra; and since the guarantee covers us, we can't lose."

How chick spicer atoms Let You Switch From Another Feed And Get Under The Staley Guarantee:

Any feeder who started on another feed can switch his chicks, any time before the end of the flock's first three weeks, to Staley "Chick Spicer" Atoms. If the chicks are fed "Chick Spicer" Atoms at the rate of 25 lbs. per 100 birds, and then started on the regular Staley Chick Atoms program, we will then guarantee the living birds switched to the Staley "Chick Spicer" program as though they had been started the Staley way. See your Staley dealer for the printed guarantee which explains the details of this protection.
